More than 175 full-color illustrations include stunning, never-before-seen photographs (from the cameras of Dave Bunnell, Tim Ernst, and Dante B. Fenolio, among others) of cave animals even some newly discovered species. The authors also address conservation of subterranean biodiversity, discussing not only threats to cave life such as invasive species, resource extraction, and habitat loss, but also current methods of preservation and protection, including legislation, land acquisition, people management, and cave gates. The book's appendices provide a comprehensive cave bibliography and checklists of subterranean animals for each cave. Speleology is critical to science. Subterranean organisms...
